Federal Jobs in Law Enforcement Russ Smith

If you believe most public law enforcement jobs are found at the state and local levels, think again. The federal government is the single largest employer of law enforcement personnel. Found in numerous agencies, most of the nearly 100,000 law enforcement jobs are interesting, relatively secure, pay well, and lead to career advancement. Despite federal government cutbacks, federal law enforcement jobs appear to be some of the best federal jobs available today.

Here's the book that provides the necessary details for getting a federal law enforcement job. Going beyond position descriptions, this action-oriented book surveys all the ingredients necessary for putting together a winning application package that clearly communicates your qualifications to agency hiring officials—from application checklists and sample job announcements to position qualification standards and federal employment resources. Includes information on the major federal law enforcement positions as well as the key agencies that hire law enforcement personnel. A rich resource for landing a job you want!
