This book is about a viral plague in about 2090 that causes lymphoma. Unfortunately, aliens are the cause because a biogel, which they were not supposed to use on Earth was used. Samples of this biogel were procured at the site of an alien spacecraft. A technician for this pharmaceutical company got infected and all hell on Earth broke out. Millions of people died, but the animals were spared. A cancer/infectious disease doctor named Anderson Mitchell was called. He genetically engineered a very large black cat named Max, who he tried to keep secret. Mitch had an advanced hovercraft called Sheila, which had the latest AI program devised thanks to Mitch. The adventure begins on a chilly September morning.
