“This insightful journalist brings his reporting experience to good use on this rich body of psychological thought.”

T. George Harris, former editor PSYCHOLOGY TODAY

Your Magical Child: A Revolution For Creativity, Intuition and True Self-identity
An easily readable 242-page book introducing a new psychology: groundbreaking and provoking.

We are beginning to recognize that many of the mainstream ideas about education and psychology are regrettably based on false premises. In truth, you are much more than you have been led to believe, and your child can be much more than you have been led to believe.

You will see these flawed mainstream concepts are the result of inadequately understanding who and what we truly are; it's a lack of both intellectual and emotional “knowing.” Your Magical Child has the innovative perceptions we need to both rescue the best in the very young and resurrect the best in the grown ups.

Written in plain English, Your Magical Child: A Revolution For Creativity, Intuition and True Self-identity outlines an original psychological and educational model which will prove much more helpful than what we use now. It's not a variation on traditional psychology and education but a new clarity built on an original scientific foundation that breaks with the existing vision of what the human mind is and how we can fully use it to define ourselves.

Your Magical Child is needed for the numbers show something is incredibly wrong with the way things are going. Most of us are on some form of mood altering drug. If you add up the number of people on prescription drugs along with those who drink “heavily,” and those that take illegal drugs, then include the increasing number of obese resulting from food overindulgence, food as a mood-altering drug, you have most of the population.

Children in general are more anxious and depressed than ever before. There is an increasing acceleration in the growing number of children with Autism Spectrum Disorders. Dyslexia, ADD and other such “disorders” are increasingly prominent.

Changing things with children will produce immediate results; grown ups will take a little longer. Unfortunately, the Magical Child in adults stopped exploring years ago, wrongly cribbed in and covered over by the false claim of a limited version of what and who you really are and ultimately can be.

We are more than just socialized animals. Recent discoveries find that we arrive here with distinct built-in knowledge, and the ongoing growth of this intrinsic knowledge is real.

Do not think of this emotional and intellectual knowledge at birth like the growth of a single plant, but think of each individual as more of a small garden in which are planted a number of different kinds of seeds.

Though they are all planted at the same time they do not sprout all at once. The seeds unseen germinating in the ground are like the unseen internal phases of human growth. They are there though concealed and will appear at the proper time IF ALLOWED TO! Each seed over time comes to its fruition at its appropriate season, but only if we do not plant something on top of it or dig it up or cover it over with a layer of manure masquerading as learning.

This systematic mass destruction of what we are born with is a relatively new phenomenon, and you can see how the intensity and quickening match that of our seemingly unexplainable disorders.

We can uncover the unseen and overlooked instinctive path to as much happiness, creativity, achievement and ways of “knowing” as we are presently capable of.

Your Magical Child: A Revolution For Creativity, Intuition and True Self-identity is not about imposing, or layering over some kind of new notion of reality; it is essentially re-learning and then revealing the true essence of our intrinsic nature. In the twenty first century we no longer know who and what we really are, for we have forgotten what we are born with.
